PREFACE

With the need for better connected and coordinated actions among development stakeholders who are implementing development projects in Laos, this directory aims to provide stakeholders with access to information about the availability of Civil Society Organisations in Laos. It has been collected and developed to assist Non Profit Associations, International Non-Governmental Organizations, Donors, GoL and other stakeholders in Laos in their search for appropriate information and implementing partners. We hope that this publication can also assist development actors in building new, or strengthening existing relationship in support of their common development goals.

This is the third version of the Directory of Lao CSOs produced following a widespread demand. The design has been adapted in response to feedback from the users of previous versions. Version three is more concise and the book is smaller in size to be handier to carry. All CSOs known to the Lao CSO Network have been invited to have their information included. Some organisations have chosen not to be included.

For more information on a specific organisation, we invite you to contact directly the management team of the organisation. On-going and regular update of CSO information can be found though visiting the website and the PDF document can be free download on the website (www.laocs-kis.org).

We would like to thank French Embassy for providing the necessary financial support for this publication. Our warm thanks to Lao CSOs Network for the data collection work and to CSOs who provided their organisational information for this directory.

With further demand and continued input from the CSO community we hope to develop and expand this collection of information further in the future.

Sincerely,

The Civil Society Working group Secretariat

DEVELOPMENT BACKGROUND IN LAOS

In recent years, Lao PDR has achieved impressive economic growth, which has been amongst the fastest in Southeast Asia. Despite the rapid economic development and the significant advances in human development that have followed, Lao PDR still stands amongst the ranks of the Least Developed Countries (LDCs). Civil society has contributed significantly to policy development and dialogue, including pro-poor concerns into national planning. Civil society organizations, through various initiatives, have contributed to capacity development to carry out activity implementation but also policy and strategic research on key issues. More could be done to incorporate related issues into policy dialogue for the benefit of the country. The overarching national goal of Lao PDR is to leave the ranks of the Least Developed Countries by 2020 and to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals. These ambitious goals can be achieved with significant effort and support from civil society, as a long-term partner. This section presents the underlying concepts of development work in Laos.

ASEAN People’s Forum (APF)

The ASEAN People’s Forum is a regular forum of civil society organizations (CSOs) in ASEAN Member States, which is held as a parallel meeting to the ASEAN Summit of Heads of State. The meeting is hosted by civil society in the country that holds the ASEAN Chairmanship. Participants of this forum come from civil society organisations, NGOs, people’s organisations, and people’s movements. In this meeting, CSOs bring up broad issues from different sectors and concerns affecting many countries in the region, such as development, trade, environment, youth, culture and human rights. The APF also features a forum through which participants can better understand the host country from the perspective of civil society. The output from this meeting is a joint statement and recommendation for the ASEAN Leaders regarding the ASEAN Summit. A feature of the ACSC/APF is to open spaces for dialogue with ASEAN Leaders. While program templates, organizing processes and committees, and best practices have been adopted from year to year, the fact that ACSC/APF is a loose platform of CSOs with no permanent governing body which can claim the ACSC/APF reflects the constantly changing and dynamic manner by which this forum is organized and convened.

Civil Society Organizations (CSO)

Civil society is comprised of a wide range of non-governmental and non-profit-driven organizations through which people organize themselves to pursue shared interests or values in public life. In the international development context, these organizations and social movements can be found at the international, regional, national and local levels. Examples of civil society organizations include community-based organizations, environmental groups, women’s rights groups, farmers’ associations, faith-based organizations, philanthropic organizations, human rights groups, co-operatives, independent research institutes, universities, diaspora groups, and the non-profit media. (GAC, 2015)

In Laos, CSOs are organizations recognized by the Lao PDR government that implement projects to support the National Social Economic Development Plan (NSEDP) and contribute to the socio-economic development of the country and poverty reduction. The CSOs include Non-Profit Association (NPA), International Non-Governmental Organizations (INGOs), Foundations, Community Based Organizations (CBO), Social Enterprises and other informal groups such as: farmer groups and cooperatives, organic vegetable groups, revolving groups and others.

Foundation

A Foundation is a non-profit organization registered as a legal entity with its own capital and assets bylaws, office, seal and bank accounts in compliance with the laws and regulations of Laos. Foundations aim to work for public interest in cultural, educational, environmental, health, sport, scientific, charity, humanitarian and other purposes. Foundations can raise funds regarding to Article 37 in decree 149 on Foundations by organizing specific forums, conferences or events to call upon donations and support through funds and assets from persons, juristic groups, entities and organizations in line with their objectives and on the basis of the laws and regulations. External audits must be carried out by an independent audit firm or auditor duly licensed and registered in accordance with the laws.

International Non-Governmental Organization (iNGO)

iNGOs are international organizations or foreign Non-Profit Organization which work to provide development assistance and humanitarian aid without any pursuit of profit. The iNGOs are administrated by Mi-
INFORMATION

Non-Profit Association (NPA)

Non-Profit Association is a Non-Profit Civil Society Organization that has been formed by a group of people in order “to pursue a common not-for-profit goal” that is, to pursue a stated goal without the intention of distributing excess revenue to their members or leaders. The Non-Profit Association is set up on a voluntary basis and operates on a permanent basis to protect the rights and legitimate interests of the local communities, the association and its members. Non-Profit Associations aim to work for poverty reduction by leveraging partnerships with local authorities, communities and other development stakeholders in diverse sectors (education, health, agriculture and forestry). Their relationship with offices, INGOs and agencies of the United Nations differs according to their goals. The decree 238/PM set the rules and regulations governing the establishment, operation and management of associations as legal entities in Lao PDR. The NPAs are administered by the Ministry of Home Affairs in Lao PDR.

Part of this text is extracted from the Decree No 115/PM on Associations. Document available on iNGO Network Website: http://directoryofngos.org.

Official Development Assistance (ODA)

Official Development Assistance (ODA) is financial flows from donor countries to developing countries. Its main objective is to promote the economic development and welfare of developing countries. ODA consists of two types: grants and soft loans that the Lao PDR receives from external sources, such as governments, international financial institutions, international organizations and international non-government organizations including funds, foundations, legal entities and individuals. The Lao People’s Democratic Republic receives ODA based on the principles of respect of independence, national sovereignty, laws and regulations of the Lao PDR, and uses the ODA to contribute to national socio-economic development in accordance with the prioritized plans of the government in order to stimulate economic growth and national poverty eradication to move the country off the list of least developed countries.

Round Table Process (RTP)

The Round Table Process represents a unique platform to promote collaboration, coordination and mutual understanding between government and development partners by stimulating substantive dialogue on the country’s development agenda, while strengthening development effectiveness. In Lao PDR, the Ministry of Planning and Investment leads the round table process, which brings governments and national development agencies, United Nations bodies, civil society organisations and the private sector together to ensure funds, time and knowledge bring maximum impact to development across the country. Lao PDR has participated in the RTP since 1983 and evolved into a dynamic in-country mechanism, with the government of Laos in the driving seat working with stakeholders to implement a mutually agreed development agenda. The Round Table Process is designed to support effective planning and implementation of the National Social Economic Development Plan (NSEDP) that is prepared every 5 years as the core development strategy for Lao PDR. The NSEDP incorporates plans to achieve key national priorities.

Universal Periodic Review (UPR) – Human right

The Universal Periodic Review (UPR) is a unique mechanism of the Human Rights Council (HRC) aimed at improving the human rights situation on the ground in each of the 193 United Nations (UN) Member States. Under this mechanism, the human rights situation of the Lao PDR is reviewed every 5 years. Forty-two States are reviewed each year. The result of each review is reflected in an “outcome report” listing the recommendations. The Lao PDR was under review in 2015 and accepted 116 recommendations out of the 196 recommendations made by States. An action plan is drafted in order to implement the recommendations by 2020, the date of the next UPR for Lao PDR.

INGO NETWORK WORKING GROUPS

Nine sectorial and issue-based working groups are currently operating under the umbrella of the INGO Network to support coordination and alignment of civil society organization programs. The working groups aim to share information on topical issues and use a stronger evidence based approach for policy influencing. Some working groups hold regular meetings (bimonthly) while others are quiet and share information through a broad mailing list. For more information about a specific working group, kindly contact INGO Network or visit the website.
